Claims 1, 4-9 and 34 are currently cancelled.

The rejection of claims 10 is respectfully traversed and reconsideration is requested. Claims 10 is allowable over the cited references in that claims 10 recite a combination of elements including, for example, "a seal cover plate for sealing the electro-luminescent layer and the metal electrode; a sealant for adhering the seal cover plate to the transparent substrate; and a heat-exhausting layer formed on an outer surface of upper portion of the seal cover plate”. None of AAPA and Yang singly or in any combination, teach or suggest at least these features of the claimed invention.

The rejection of claims 26 is respectfully traversed and reconsideration is requested. Claims 26 is allowable over the cited references in that claims 10 recite a combination of elements including, for example, “a flat seal cover plate formed in a plane to seal the electro-luminescent layer; a metal thin film provided under the seal cover plate to transfer heat; and a sealant for adhering an edge of the flat seal cover plate and the metal thin film to the transparent substrate, said sealant having a space for injecting an inactive gas, wherein an entire surface of the metal thin film contacts the flat seal cover plate”. None of AAPA and Shi singly or in any combination, teach or suggest at least these features of the claimed invention.

Claim 31 is rewritten into independent claim. The rejection of claims 31 is respectfully traversed and reconsideration is requested. Claims 31 is allowable over the cited references in that claims 10 recite a combination of elements including, for example, “a flat seal cover plate formed in a plane to seal the electro-luminescent layer; a metal thin film provided under the seal cover plate to transfer heat; a sealant for adhering an edge of the flat seal cover plate and the metal thin film to the transparent substrate, said sealant having a space for injecting an inactive gas, wherein an entire surface of the metal thin film contacts the flat seal cover plate; a moisture-absorbing agent provided at the inner side of the flat seal cover plate opposed to the metal electrode to absorb moisture and oxygen from the electro-luminescent layer; and a semi-transmissive film for supporting the moisture-absorbing agent to be held at the inner side of the flat seal cover plate, wherein the metal thin film adheres to a portion of the flat seal cover plate on which the moisture-absorbing agent is not formed”.

None of AAPA and Shi singly or in any combination, teach or suggest at least these features of the claimed invention.

Claim 32 is rewritten into independent claim. The rejection of claims 32 is respectfully traversed and reconsideration is requested. Claims 32 is allowable over the cited references in that claims 10 recite a combination of elements including, for example, “a flat seal cover plate formed in a plane to seal the electro-luminescent layer; a metal thin film provided under the seal cover plate to transfer heat; a sealant for adhering an edge of the flat seal cover plate and the metal thin film to the transparent substrate, said sealant having a space for injecting an inactive gas, wherein an entire surface of the metal thin film contacts the flat seal cover plate; a moisture-absorbing agent provided at the inner side of the flat seal cover plate opposed to the metal electrode to absorb moisture and oxygen from the electro-luminescent layer; and a semi-transmissive film for supporting the moisture-absorbing agent to be held at the inner side of the flat seal cover plate, wherein the metal thin film adheres to a portion of the flat seal cover plate on which the moisture-absorbing agent is not formed and the sealant is not attached”. None of AAPA and Shi singly or in any combination, teach or suggest at least these features of the claimed invention.

The rejection of claims 11-18, 27-30 and 33 is respectfully traversed and reconsideration is requested. Claims 11-18, 27-30 and 33 depend from claim 10 or claim 26, respectively, and necessarily contain all of the limitations of claim 10 or 26.
